Great Consequence Since
Entry Into War

Washington, D. C., Dec. 8.—Torpedoed in a night attack the American destroyer Jacob Jones, one of the newest and largest submarine hunters of her class, was sunk Thursday night in the war zone, and two-thirds of her crew lost. The disaster brings to the American people the first naval loss of great consequence since the country entered the war.

Thirty-seven of her officers and crew were taken off in life rafts. The remainder are not accounted for in today's dispatch from Vice Admiral Sims, who forwarded the names of 19 of the survivors.

Brother of Mrs. Daniels Missing. Lieutenant Commander David Bagley, brother of Mrs. Josephus Daniels, wife of the secretary of the navy, and whose brother was the first American officer to give his life in the Spanish-American war, does not appear in the list of survivors.

Inasmuch as Admiral Sims mentioned other officers among the survivors and did not name Bagley, it is feared he went down with his ship. The command of the Jones is reported to have been given to a lieutenant, and it is believed that the loss of the ship would be a great blow to the navy.

Attacked in Icy Seas. The attack, which was at 8 o'clock at night, was delivered by a torpedo. In the rolling icy seas of the North Atlantic, the submarine probably had plenty of opportunity to pick her time for the shot. The submarine probably came upon the destroyer sailing her course in the dark, and had all the best of the engagement. No details were contained in today's report, but it has been the case heretofore that when a submarine gets a hit on a destroyer it is more due to a chance meeting and good opportunity than to skill on the part of the submarine.

The large loss of life would indicate that the torpedo with its deadly charge of high explosives, made a fair hit plump on the destroyer's main hull, and the submarine hunter probably was blown fairly in two. That she went down quickly is evidenced by the fact that nothing is said of survivors getting off in lifeboats. Those saved got off on rafts which probably floated off the sinking ship as she plunged down in the icy darkness.

Old Jack Frost showed the mercury down five notches more last night, when the lowest temperature of the season, 22 under zero, was registered. At 7 o'clock this morning it was two degrees warmer, and by noon the mercury had moved up 10 degrees. At 2 this afternoon it registered but eight degrees below zero.

Promises for tonight and tomorrow are continued cold with snow in the northern portion of the state.

Williston, with a temperature of 28 degrees below zero, was the coldest spot in the northwest last night, two degrees colder than Prince Albert, which reported 26 below. It was 16 below at Kansas City, Miles City and St. Paul and 18 below at Winnipeg, Moorhead, usually one of the cold spots on the map, was 12 degrees warmer last night than Bismarck, and Pierre and Sioux City were eight degrees warmer.

YOUNGSTER TAKES TUMBLE

While "tight-rope walking" the ledge along the side of the First National bank building above the entrance to John C. Dolan's barber shop, an 11-year-old son of Frank Gabel of Thirteenth street, lost his footing at noon today and tumbled into the basement airway, about 18 feet below. The youngster landed in a heap, and when picked up he was unconscious. Dr. F. E. Greibenow was summoned to attend the lad, who was carried into the barber shop, and after conscious was restored it was found that no bones had been broken nor serious hurts of any other nature sustained.

Fire Destroys
Of Chemical

Chicago, Dec. 8.—A warehouse recently leased by the government for the medical division of the army was destroyed by fire of mysterious origin today. Chemicals among the stores caused a number of small explosions. The flames burned so fiercely that only the tottering walls of the five story structure were standing when firemen arrived. The building stood at South Dearborn Avenue, and West 40th street.

Major W. S. Shields, and thirty-five employees fled from the flames. Major Shields said he had no comment to make on suspicions of firemen that incendiaries started the fire.

The crime of which Kate Richards O'Hare stands convicted and its penalty are defined in Section 3 of the espionage act passed by congress June 15, 1917, as follows:

"Whoever when the United States is at war shall wilfully make or convey false reports or false statements with intent to interfere with the operation or success of the military or naval forces of the United States, or to promote the success of its enemies; and whoever when the United States is at war shall wilfully cause or attempt to cause insubordination, disloyalty, mutiny or refusal of duty in the military or naval forces of the United States; or shall wilfully obstruct the recruiting or enlistment service of the United States, to the injury of the service of the United States, shall be punished by a fine of not more than $10,000, or imprisonment for not more than twenty years, or both."

Mrs. O'Hare last night furnished bail in the sum of $5,000 for her appearance in court for sentence next week. Her bondsmen are Charles Olson, C. E. Taylor, C. E. Joyce and Alfred Anderson, all of Bowman.

It is reported that the jury on the first ballot Friday evening stood ten to two for conviction. The verdict returned after deliberating thirty minutes was very brief and carried no recommendations to the court. It read:

"We, the jury, find the defendant guilty as charged in the indictment." Judge Wade has granted an extension of time in order that the defense make a motion in arrest of judgment, file a bill of exceptions, or notice of appeal, one of which actions is anticipated.

After deliberating not more than thirty minutes a jury in the United States district court Friday evening found Mrs. Kate Richards O'Hare, socialist lecturer and author, guilty of interfering and attempting to obstruct the recruiting and enlisting service in the United States army. Mrs. O'Hare was brought to trial under an indictment returned by a federal grand jury at Fargo last July under the espionage act of June 15, 1917. The charges grew out of a lecture delivered by Mrs. O'Hare at Bowman on July 17, 1917.

Will Appeal. D. V. Lovell, attorney for the defendant, today announced that an appeal will be taken from the verdict in the United States district court.

It was charged in the indictment that Mrs. O'Hare in this lecture said American mothers who gave their boys to the army were no better than brood sows on Mountain stock farms, and that the best use that could be made of the blood of American boys who enlisted in the army was to fertilize the fields of France.

Mrs. O'Hare and her witnesses denied the use of these statements in her lecture, or claimed that if words (Continued on page four)

With a declaration of war and more than a million Austrian-Hungarian subjects living in this country were added to the list of alien enemies. Government agents today rounded up many Austrians who long have been suspected of hampering the government's war plans. They will be interned if they fail to convince officials of their peaceful intentions.

Washington, Dec. 8.—War between the United States and Austria-Hungary was formally declared yesterday. Congress, with one dissenting vote in the house, adopted and President Wilson approved, a resolution declaring the existence of a state of war between the 'Imperial and Royal Austro-Hungarian government and the people of the United States,' authorizing the president to employ the nation's armed forces and pledging its resources to victory.

Similar to German Resolution. The resolution, the response of congress to the president's request in his address Tuesday, is similar to that passed April 6 declaring war with Germany. It became effective at 5:03 p. m. today, when it was signed by the executive without formality. An executive proclamation will follow shortly.

After but one hour's debate the resolution was unanimously adopted by the senate with an affirmative vote of 74. It was approved by the house, 363 to 1. Representative London, the New York socialist, casting the only dissenting vote. A few minutes later Vice President Marshall and Speaker Clark had signed the document and sent it to the white house where President Wilson attached his signature with Secretary Tumulty and Assistant Secretary Forster as the only witnesses.

Bulgaria and Turkey Ignored. In accordance with President Wilson's suggestion, action in respect to Turkey and Bulgaria, Germany's other allies, was left to the future. (Continued on Page Two)

Nova Scotians stricken by one of the worst catastrophes in history were doing manfully their bit to win the war in manufactures and food production. Fish, apples and potatoes were the main food products. There is no more fertile ground than this ocean bound garden of the most picturesque portion of lower Canada. Every fishing hamlet and seaside town is alive with the bustle of preparing and shipping great catches brought in daily by Nova Scotia fishermen. Fish are spread to dry on every available space, even house tops are utilized. The air resounds with hammer blows as coopers head up barrels of briny beauties. Wharves were piled high with boxes and barrels of fish awaiting transportation. The number of available vessels, while large, was inadequate to keep pace with the incoming supply.

"With another day's good weather we would have had our plant enclosed," said Patrick M. "We have all of the steel on the ground," said Mr. Casey, "and most of the machinery bought. The plant will supply us with three acres of floor space in its five stories, and it will be the most modern and complete of its kind in the northwest. We have every reason to believe that it will be a success from the very start. We are meeting with the best of support from farmers everywhere."

F. & A. M., Rev. George Duzelle, rector of St. George's, officiating.

The remains reached Bismarck on Thursday evening, accompanied by Dr. W. H. Crewe, secretary of the North Dakota livestock sanitary board, and by Lieut. R. H. Treacy, U. S. A., eldest son of the deceased. The rites Sunday, because of the prominence of Dr. Treacy and the many friends from a distance who will be in attendance, will be unusually impressive. Interment will be made in St. Mary's cemetery.

SEVER RELATIONS. Guayaquil, Ecuador, Dec. 8.—Ecuador has severed diplomatic relations with Germany, according to an official announcement made by the government.

CAPTURE 16,000. London, Dec. 8.—The number of Italians captured by the Germans and Austrians in their new offensive now exceeds 16,000, according to an official Austrian announcement. Strong points east of the Asiago have been stormed, the statement says.

British Headquarters in France, Friday, Dec. 7.—The Germans today continued their work of reoccupying the devastated area beguitched to them by the British when General Byng made his withdrawal from the Cambrai salient.

It was an unsavory task that faced the enemy. The Bourlon wood still was reeking with poisonous gas; Graincourt, Anneux Cantaining Noyelles, Marconing, Masnières were a waste of ruins, and the low-lying ground on which the Germans apparently had planned to dig their new trenches was overlooked by the British positions.

Consolidation Complete. Into this desert, the big guns were hurled, tons of explosives, and machine gunners were whipping a constant stream of bullets into the ranks of the enemy sent forward prospecting for desirable points available for defense. Meanwhile, the major portion of the British army was sitting comfortably in their new home, their consolidation virtually having been completed.

Part of their work was done for them by the Germans in the famous Hindenburg trenches. The wonderful German dugouts and network of front line and communication trenches were all at the disposal of the Tommies.

Gas Lingers in Woods. The British, who held Bourlon wood so gallantly, were compelled to wear gas masks most of the time they were in the forests. The ground was swampy in many places and the whole woods was covered with underbrush. These two features resulted in gas hanging about the wood in clouds all day.

TRAIN ARRIVES. Halifax, Dec. 8.—The Massachusetts relief train that left Boston Thursday night arrived here tonight. There is absolutely no way of estimating with any degree of accuracy the number of dead in the explosion of Thursday. Fifteen hundred is the generally accepted figure by the authorities. In one morgue alone there are 300 bodies.

The latter were viewed by a multitude today, but only a few were identified. There are probably 200 other bodies on view awaiting identification. In a great number of cases this will be impossible.

A citizens' committee issued a statement saying that about 4,000 buildings occupied by the poorer classes were destroyed. The reports show that almost 20,000 persons are destitute.

Snow to the depth of two feet covers the devastated area. The district is under strict guard. Canadian soldiers are being assisted by American blue jackets. The mayor today issued an order suspending the Sabbath holiday, and directed that all stores remaining safe for occupancy be kept open and all labor continued. Search of the ruins is greatly delayed by the heavy snow, though many injured had been removed to nearby towns before the storm set in.

4,000 DEAD IS ESTIMATE. Amherst, Nova Scotia, Dec. 8.—An estimate four thousand persons dead in the Halifax disaster is contained in a private telegram received from the stricken city today by an undertaking firm here. The message asks that four thousand coffins be sent to Halifax at once.

Halifax, Nova Scotia, Dec. 8.—A blinding "north country" snowstorm, accompanying a gale that at times attained a velocity of more than forty miles per hour, has held this city of desolation in its grip for the last twenty-four hours, adding new terrors to the awe-stricken survivors of Thursday's disaster and greatly impeding the progress of relief trains hurrying here from the United States and Dominion cities with their urgently needed supplies.

Train Stalled. The Massachusetts relief train was stalled in great snow drifts near Amherst last night, and while snow-plows were used, the progress was so slow that the train's arrival here is problematical. Other rescue trains are reported snowbound.

With every building in Halifax and Dartmouth more or less damaged by the explosion and fire, men, women and children huddled together as best they could and passed a night of suffering. The chilling wind whistled through smashed windows. There were scarcely blankets enough to cover wounded bodies, and many were unable to obtain food. Fires were almost out of the question and the only lights obtainable were from oil lamps or candles.

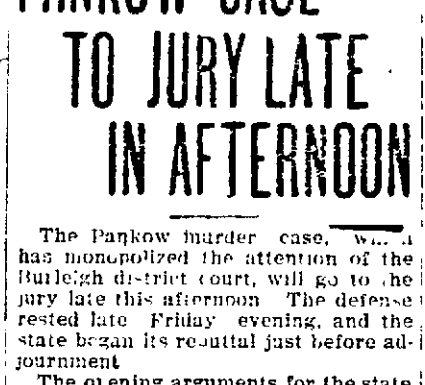

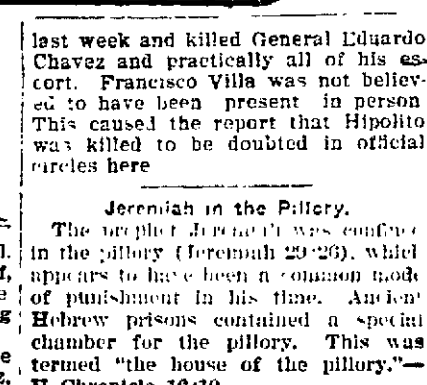

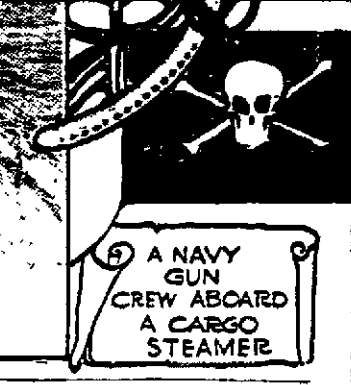

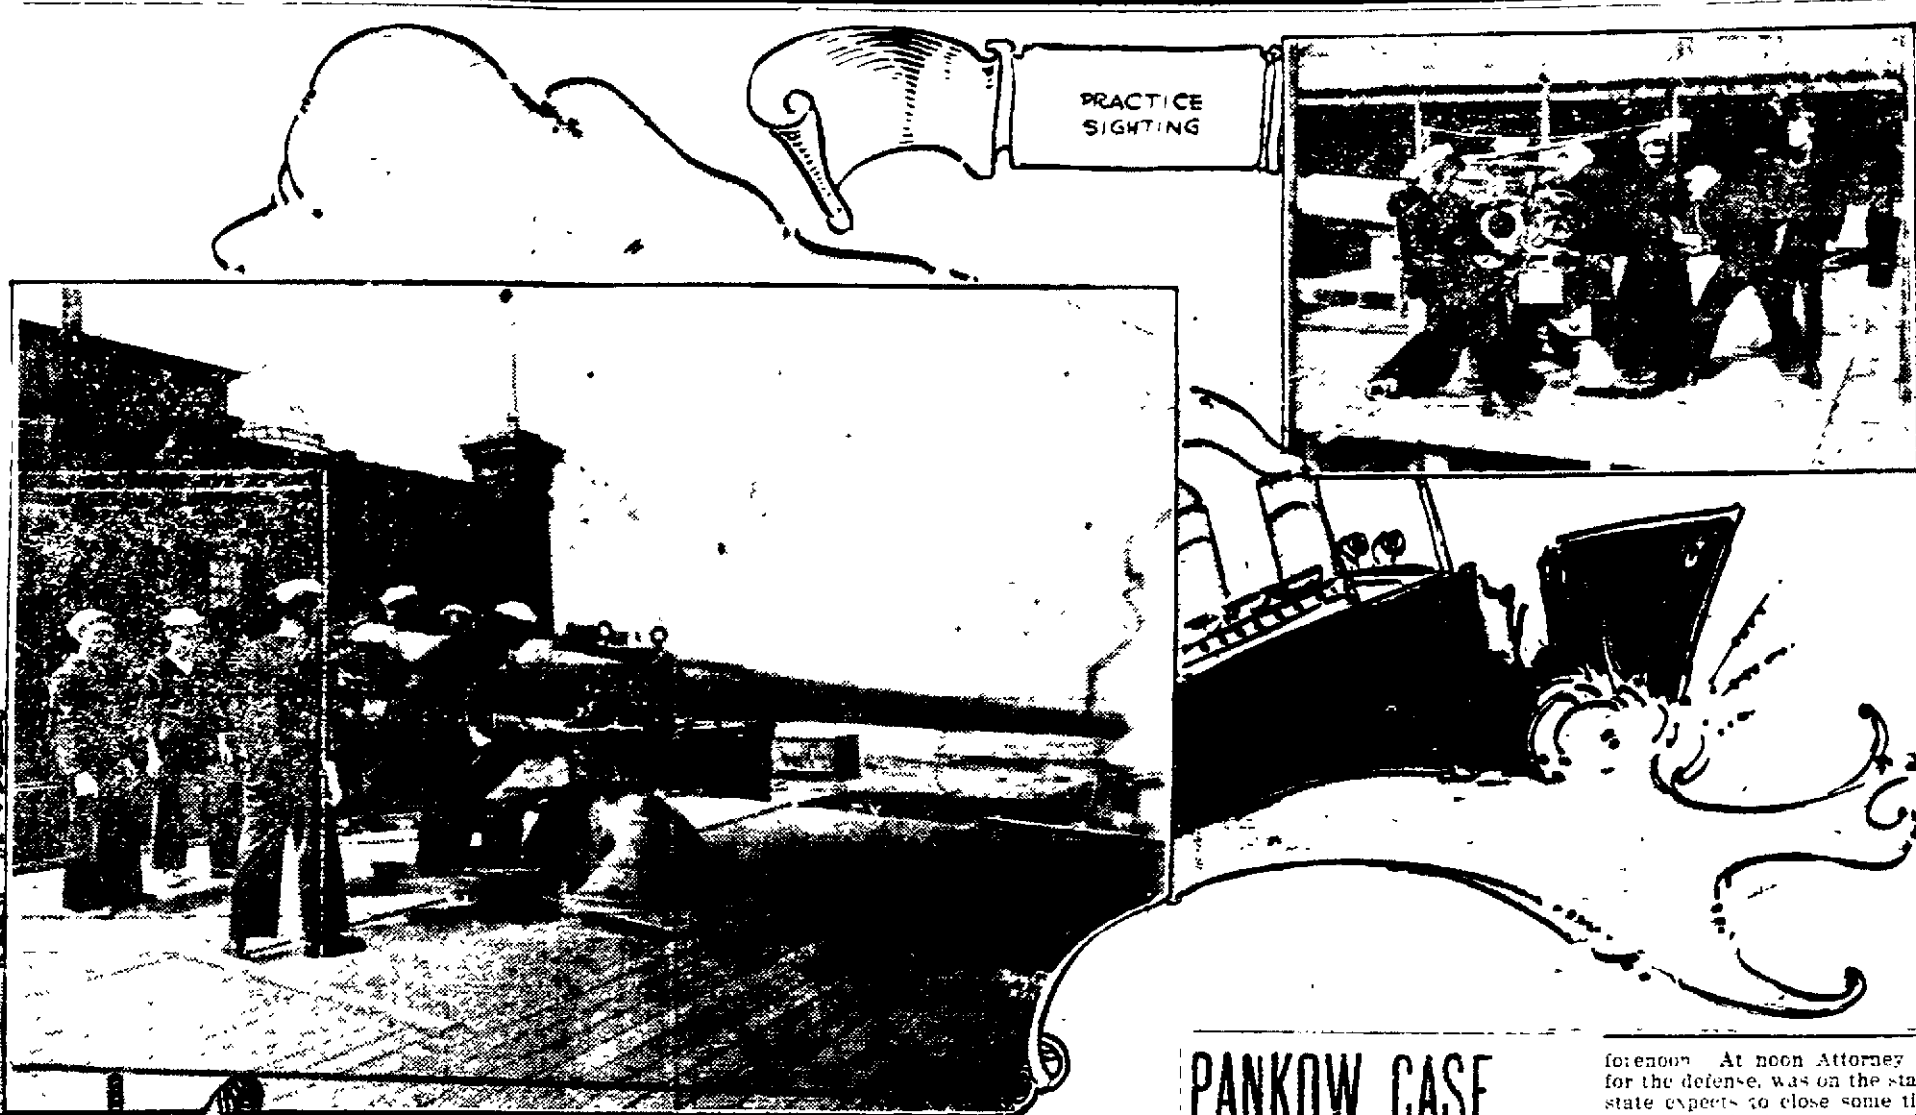

20,000 Destitute. The citizens' finance committee headed by Justice Harris, estimates there are 20,000 destitute people in the devastated area, the majority of them from the poorer classes. Nearly 4,000 dwelling houses were destroyed, the committee declares, and the actual losses and the estimated cost of temporary maintenance will approximate $30,000,000.

Perhaps the most serious of the many problems to be met is the food situation. There is enough food in the city for immediate needs, but unless communication is opened soon, the city faces the possibility of famine. Milk is almost unobtainable, and fears are expressed for the lives of babies.

In the greater task of caring for the living, no concerted effort is being made at present to complete a list of the dead, but hundreds of soldiers, sailors, American "jackies," and volunteers are grouping under the mass of wreckage searching for bodies. Police officials still estimate the dead at 2,000, and injured at 3,000.

TRAFFIC BLOCKED. Truro, N. S., Dec. 8.—Additional outside relief for the suffering thousands in Halifax was dependent today upon the weather. The great snow storm dominated the situation. Almost every hour brought word of a relief train stalled by the huge drifts piled up by the gale all along (Continued on Page Three)

Special Red Cross Trains With Hospital Units Race Toward the Wrecked City

Doctors, Nurses, Workers and Abundant Supplies Go From Washington.

Washington, Dec. 8.—Two special American Red Cross trains carrying personnel and equipment of an emergency hospital unit, with additional doctors, nurses, and social workers, food, clothing, and surgical supplies, were rushed tonight to the stricken city of Halifax.

Before the arrival of the trains, however, the active work of the American Red Cross relief was expected to be well under way as there was six special workers with surgical and hospital supplies aboard the Massachusetts special train due at Halifax tonight, and two other workers were on the ground when the explosion occurred.

President Wilson in a telegram to the governor general of Canada today offered the "heartiest sympathy and grief" of the people of the United States to their noble brethren of the dominion.

Senator La Follette, who also opposed war with Germany, was absent when the roll call was taken and did not vote. Later he addressed the senate, explaining that he did not hear the roll call, which was taken while he was at his desk preparing an amendment providing that the United States should not observe any agreement with the belligerent allies to deprive of territory of Austria held August 1, 1914.

Explaining her vote for the resolution, Representative Rankin of Montana, who spoke first when voting against the German declaration, said she still believed in a rapid and final peace, and that she was not voting against the resolution because she was not a technician in prosecuting war already declared.

Not His Fault. "If fate had been kinder to me I would have married a German," said Mrs. Dubois. "You did marry a $10,000-a-year man," said Mr. Dubois, with dignity. "That is what I didn't get it is no reflection upon me."

RED CONTINGENT AT VLADIVOSTOK ON THE PACIFIC

Petrograd, Thursday, Dec. 6.—Fifteen hundred Bolshevik troops are reported to have arrived at Vladivostok.

The above report, if true, possibly would indicate that the Bolshevik government is now in control of the trans-Siberian railway, which runs from Petrograd, a distance of 6,321 miles, to Vladivostok, Russia's principal seaport on the Pacific.

WASHINGTON MUST ACT. Washington, Dec. 8.—If Bolshevik troops are moving into Vladivostok the United States and the allies may be forced at any time to adopt a definite policy toward the radical government at Petrograd.

It is impossible, of course, to give an adequate estimate of the German troops engaged along the new battle line since General Byng began his push on November 23, but it is not probably far out of the way that he may have something like 25,000 men. Not all were actually engaged in the fighting as some were used as reserves.

2,000 Slaughtered. The British withdrawal leaves the British in full possession of the line between the Nord and the Valtres.

At the same time, the Germans were repulsed with heavy losses. The British still hold the high ground here, and the German infantry assaults in an attempt to oust the defenders.

Can Russian Anarchists Make Peace With German Autocrats?

Just what word has passed between Berlin and Petrograd may never be known, nor are we advised as to the German Government's precise attitude toward the Bolsheviks and their peace advances.

For a full description of the complications in the Russian situation, you should read THE LITERARY DIGEST for December 8th. In this article the view points of American and English editors are presented, and after reading it, you will be in a position to either agree or disagree with the Houston Chronicle when it says "God knows the Bolsheviks are as dangerous to organized Government as are the Hohenzollerns and Hapsburgs, and probably more so."

A JUST VERDICT.

Kate Richards O'Hare has been convicted by a representative North Dakota jury under the espionage act of June 15, 1917. That in itself is important. Kate Richards O'Hare is, as counsel for the government described her, a dangerous woman. She is intelligent, fearless and fanatic on the subject of socialism. As a paid propaganda agent she has gone up and down the country preaching against war in any form or for any cause, no matter how obvious. The harm she has done cannot be estimated. Its effects in one North Dakota community could be traced through the witnesses for the defense from Bowman, each of whom, man and woman, testified that nothing was said in Mrs. O'Hare's lecture at Bowman which gave them offense or which did not find them in hearty accord. A majority of them applauded.

More important than the mere conviction of Mrs. O'Hare, who faces a possible 10 years or more behind the bars of a federal prison, is the rebuke which a representative group of North Dakota men—farmers, professional men, laborers and merchants—have administered to the Totten type of propaganda here at home. The Tottens—Rev. George A., president of Mr. Townley's Northwest Public Service bureau, which supplies league newspapers with their opinions, and an appointee of Governor Frazier on the state board of regents; Judge E. B. Totten, a prospective league candidate for the supreme court, county judge of Bowman, and Mrs. Lillian Totten, postmistress at Bowman, whose patriotism was questioned in the United States senate and before the same grand jury which indicted Mrs. O'Hare—were here in force. They were plainly, openly here in defense of Mrs. O'Hare. The Tottens, as much as Mrs. O'Hare herself, appeared in the testimony of witnesses for the defense. The Tottens were used by the attorney for the defense in a brilliant closing argument by which he sought to sweep from the minds of the jurors the logical conclusions they had drawn from the prosecution's array of facts.

When such a jury as that which tried Mrs. O'Hare after less than 20 minutes' deliberation found Mrs. O'Hare guilty as charged, they fled in behalf of North Dakota a protest against the Tottenesque "brand of politics. The downfall of the Tottens, defense of sedition is the only way to save the patriotism of North Dakota as a whole nor even upon the great church whose district superintendent sits at the same table with a defender of sedition cannot be made to suffer for the political aspirations of one of its honored servants. These incidents are exceptions. They are found in rather high places in North Dakota, but they are not typical nor representative. That fact was impressed upon the nation yesterday when that federal court jury of 12 average American citizens devoted less than a half hour to making up its mind about Mrs. O'Hare and the professional politicians, office holders and reformers who rallied to her defense.

It is true that Mrs. O'Hare was laboring in the interests of, or at least co-operating with the Nonpartisan league organization. But that organization at the St. Paul session felt, in its opposition to the first liberty loan and in its support of Senator La Follette, has shown that it does not represent the rank and file of its membership. And the fact that the Tottens placed on the stand in defense of their seditionist friend a Nonpartisan leaguer from Bowman county is not an indication that any large percentage of the Nonpartisan league members, even in unfortunate Bowman, approve of Mrs. O'Hare or Senator La Follette or Emma Goldman or Max Eastman and the things they stand for.

North Dakota is right, and the nation in the press reports on millions of breakfast tables this morning, found concrete evidence of that fact in the verdict of the O'Hare jury.

Kate Richards O'Hare, soap-box orator, agitator and writer of the extreme socialist cult, stands convicted in the federal court of this city for seditious and treasonable utterances. The jury composed partially of farmers, spent two days in hearing the evidence and 30 minutes in reaching the conclusion of guilt.

The woman, by her own admission made use of language of which she stood accused and the purpose of which was a warning and slandering insult to American mothers. And the same competition she referred to the young men enlisting in the army as will fitted to fortify the field of Europe and as appropriate food for cannon. In the court room, to be sure, she sought to change the context and implication of her words, and there were witnesses willing to give them an unusual meaning, but no impression reached the jury box, nor did the plea that La Follette and others had uttered greater treason fall with any effect.

Mrs. O'Hare is a woman of the Emma Goldman stripe, quite as ardent as she in seeking near-criminal notoriety, and intimately connected with the revolutionary element of the socialist party, leaning toward, if not belonging to the I. W. W., and other fire-brand branches of the organization.

Previous to her indictment at Fargo and since that time the field of Mrs. O'Hare's circulation has been in Montana and North Dakota, and in this state in particular she has been touted by leaders of thought and politics, particularly the latter, who have approved her sentiments, if that may be judged by the manner in which they have stood by and defended her down to the hour of her conviction. She was an agent of the German spy system when the intimacy began and the extent of her reform since the United States joined the allies is a subject on which there is no light.

Patriotically inclined leaders of the public mind do not enter into such associations, and a fellow-feeling for such as Kate Richards O'Hare is not a thing to boast of by any whose sympathy is untainted of the disease that has afflicted her.

One electric company in Germany now making airplane and submarine parts, has 80,000 employees. Keep going, Uncle Sam.

Seizure of 15,000 tons ordered by Gov. Nicholas relieves the sugar shortage down east. But, from what our readers say, we judge that there was a bunch of cars after our sugar.

The fact that the governor of North Dakota has chosen to place one of the defenders of Mrs. O'Hare at the head of the state's great educational institutions where this man represents ideals to the thousands of young people who fill our halls of learning, is no reflection upon the people of North Dakota as a whole nor even upon the Freiheit!

This is the top of the first page of the four-page pamphlet which American and allied aviators are dropping over the German trenches. It contains the address of President Wilson to the American congress last April 2. The word "Freiheit" is German for "freedom." Introductory paragraphs explaining the purpose of the pamphlet say:

The German government did not dare to publish the complete text of President Wilson's message of April 2, 1917. It was afraid of the influence the unabridged text might wield on the sentiment of the German people. The German people who in the now commencing period of the terrific war will have to suffer the greatest afflictions and privations, have the inalienable right to know the true reasons which caused the peace-loving American nation to take a part in the conflict. Therefore the official message of the president of the United States was translated verbatim and un-abridged, and this translation is here-with communicated to you, men and soldiers of the German people. The passages suppressed in the report of the Wolff Telegraph bureau when the message of the president was sent out to the whole world are printed with red ink in our edition. They are of the utmost importance.

Then follows a translation of Wilson's message, the parts which the German papers omitted being printed in red.

$10,000 AND 20 YEARS

(Continued from Page One) of this kind were used the intent had been distorted. Witnesses for the government insisted that the statements were made in the nature and with the intent noted in the indictments.

U. S. District Attorney M. A. Hildreth and Assistant U. S. Attorney John Carimody prosecuted, and V. R. Lovell of Fargo defended. The trial occupied two days and a half, during which fifteen witnesses were examined. The summing up began at 11 o'clock Friday forenoon and continued until 4. Judge Wade occupied less than an hour in his charge to the jury. Judge Wade announced he would defer sentence a week in order that he may make a personal investigation of Mrs. O'Hare's activities in other quarters.

Went to Jury at 5 O'clock. The case of the United States versus Kate Richards O'Hare, charged with the violation of the espionage act of June 15, 1917, went to a federal district court jury at 5 o'clock Friday afternoon after Attorney Lovell, for the defense, had filed eleven specific exceptions to the charge of Judge Wade of Iowa to the jurors.

Mr. Lovell took exceptions to the court's statement to the jury that the charge had nothing to do with the Tottens of Bowman county. Leaders of the faction which furnished all of the witnesses for the defense to the court's statement that it was not in evidence that Judge Totten's wife had been appointed postmistress of Bowman by the Wilson administration nor by any other; to the court's statement that the fact that a witness charged to hold a political office should not be considered by the jury in weighing his evidence. Mr. Lovell also took exceptions to Judge Wade's definition of a reasonable doubt and to the hope he expressed that any person guilty of the charge preferred in the indictment might be convicted.

Judge Wade before giving the case to the jury replied to each of Attorney Lovell's exceptions in order and noted that exceptions and answers would be included in the record.

About Mr. Totten. The Tottens were brought into the judge's charge to the jury through Attorney Lovell's effulgent praise in his closing argument. He called upon the jury to consider Judge Totten as a man whom had received the endorsement of the people of his county, and to regard Mr. Totten as the representative of President Wilson at Bowman, and an appointee working hand in hand with the administration. Judge Wade instructed the jury to obliterate these impressions and to remember that nothing had been introduced in evidence to show that Judge Totten had ever received the endorsement of his county nor that Mrs. Totten was an appointee of President Wilson or of any other administration. The Tottens, he charged the jury, were not concerned in the case, nor was any political issue or any feud which might exist in Bowman.

Denounces La Follette. "Worse things are said right on the floor of congress than Mrs. O'Hare is charged with saying—even if she did say them," Attorney Lovell in his closing argument, which was a rather brilliant performance, said. "Senator La Follette, at the St. Paul session, said that he did not believe any of the gentlemen of the jury can approve. He said things that did not meet my approval. If anyone should be arrested why not La Follette? But no, the United States attorney goes down into Bowman county

Rede des Präsidenten. Wilson gehalten am 2. April 1917 im Kongress zu Washington.

Anmerkung. Die deutsche Regierung hat es nicht gewagt, dem deutschen Volk den vollständigen Text der Rede des Präsidenten Wilson vom 2. April 1917 mitzuteilen; sie fürchtete den Einfluss, den der unabridged Text dieser Rede auf die Stimmung des Volkes haben würde. Das deutsche Volk, das in dem nun beginnenden Kampf die höchsten Freiheitskämpfer der Welt zu seinen Verbündeten tragen muß, hat ein unüberwindliches Recht, die Gründe zu kennen, welche die friedliebende amerikanische Nation dazu gebracht haben, in dem Kampf teilzunehmen. Deshalb wurde die Rede des Präsidenten Wilson in der deutschen Sprache vollständig und unverändert abgedruckt und diese Übersetzung wird euch — Geliebten des Friedens und dem deutschen Volk — gesandt. Die Gründe, welche in dem Bericht des Wolff Telegraphen-Büros unterdrückt wurden, als die Rede des Präsidenten der ganzen Welt mitgeteilt wurde, sind in unserer Ausgabe rotgedruckt. Sie sind von größter Wichtigkeit.

The new local railroad organization has about twenty members, and the president, B. A. Hortwitz, declared yesterday that there will be about twice that number next month, owing to the fact that the new organization has right to membership from Mandan to Dickinson.

Mrs. Withers To Read. Tuesday evening an entertainment will be given at the Methodist church under the auspices of the Epworth League. Mrs. W. Mosley Withers, a reader of considerable reputation, will be the chief member on the program. She is a graduate of the Johnson Conservatory of Music and Art, and wife of the Rev. M. W. Withers, pastor of the colored Baptist church of Bismarck. Miss Clara Tuorberg and Miss Cecelia Connolly will also take part on the program.

THE COMMUNITY CHRISTMAS. Interest is growing in the Community Christmas tree that is planned for holiday season by the Mandan Musical club for the "kiddies." An elaborate program will be arranged and special efforts will be made to make the event one that will make Christmas history for Mandan.

COMMANDERY OFFICERS. The Couer de Leon Commandery have elected officers for the ensuing year. The officers are: Eminent commander, L. F. Smith; generalissimo, E. A. Kiple; captain general, Joseph Crosthwaite; S. W. Otto Bauer and J. W. F. H. Mottisell.

F. E. Jacobs Here—F. E. Jacobs of Billings, Mont., is in Mandan for a few days on business and visiting with friends. Judge Bruce to Speak Here—Chief Justice Andrew A. Bruce of the supreme court will be the principal speaker at the loyalty services at the Episcopal church to be held here tomorrow morning. He has chosen for his subject "Loyalty to Our Country." There unquestionably will be a large number of people attending the services to hear Judge Bruce's address.

Leave for Army Service—Gordon Williams, "Speck" Reynolds, Charles Tobin, Marvin Olson and Ted Johnson all leave this evening for Jefferson, N. D., where they will be assigned to various posts in the coast artillery, the department of the United States army in which they enlisted. The boys went to Bismarck last Tuesday and took the examination and were advised at that time they were to be ready to leave tomorrow evening. All of the boys have been employed in various capacities at the Northern Pacific freight depot.

Held to Answer—George Appert of Youngtown was bound over to district court late Thursday afternoon to answer to the complaint of stealing wheat. Judge H. L. Henke, before whom the case was tried, set Grapper's bonds at $1,000, which he immediately furnished. George Becker, also of Youngtown, who was arrested and arraigned on the same charge and who had his hearing at the same time Appert had his, was released. The state examined nearly twenty witnesses and the defense in each case only examined one. The hearing is said to have been one of the lengthiest hearings ever held in Mandan.

MOVEMENT NORROWEST IN RANGE FOR MANY WEEKS. EMBARGO ON CORN AND OATS EASTWARD BOUND

Foreign News Offers Little Encouragement to War and Industrial Issues. Order Effective December 10 Which Will Build up Stocks at Centers.

RAILS BEAR BRUNT OF EARLY REVERSAL. LIQUIDATION IN OATS FORCES PRICES DOWN

New York, Dec. 7.—Stocks were heavy in the first half of today's session, but made up part of their loss later, though closing with a heavy tone. The movement was the narrowest and least important of any day for many weeks, total dealings aggregating only 330,000 shares. The same influences which so long have served to check activity and initiative were again operative. Foreign news offered little encouraging developments at Washington were reflecting in the hesitant tone of industrial and war issues.

Rails bore the brunt of the early reversal, investment stocks making score reversions of one to two points. Yet new minimums were reached by Baltimore and Ohio at 54 and Pennsylvania at 55 1/2, selling of the latter again suggesting urgent liquidation. Utilities extended recent losses, Western Union, however, regaining its 12 point decline. United States Steel was under pressure most of the time with other equipments, but rallied slightly in the last hour, only to fall back again.

Shipments, coppers and some half score speculative specialties reacted and recovered as the movement shifted elsewhere, ending for the most part, however at net losses.

International bonds were heavy, Anglo-French 5's establishing their lowest quotation at 89 1/8. French municipals also weakened. Liberty 4's ranged from 97.16 to 97.30 and 3 1/2's from 98.48 to 98.76. Total sales (par value) aggregated $3,150,000. United States bonds (old issues) were unchanged on call, the registered 4's declining 1/4 cent on sale.

New York, Dec. 7.—Broadstreets tomorrow will say:

Government requisitions and expenditures for all sorts of military supplies are at an unprecedented height, transportation routes are under unexampled strain, and increasing stress is being laid upon the necessity for curtailing non-essential industries to allow of full supplies of fuel and raw materials for war purposes. There is, therefore, increasing evidence of speeding up on the so-called war lines accompanied by the presence of a governmental check rein upon activities in others.

Incidentally, scarcity of fuel or raw materials or the working of other processes making for closer readjustments to a war basis, tend to restrict movements in various ways. Trade in civilian supplies is still large, but there appears to be a concentration upon foods and wearing apparel to an extent not hitherto seen. Further quieting down of ordinary house building and operations in furniture, automobile (pleasure car), and in jewelry manufacturing, furs and other products is balanced by increased buying of steel for munitions, ship-building and allied lines. Agricultural implement men, too, are buying and selling freely enough for an ordinary quiet period while automobile manufacturers are reported shifting a great deal of capacity to supplying government needs for munitions.

Many to Dance Tonight for Bismarck Boys Now on Way to France to Fight

Members of the Woman's Auxiliary to Company A, have been selling tickets for their benefit dancing party this evening in Patterson hall and have met with considerable success. It is expected that one of the largest crowds to attend a dancing party this season will be in attendance. Every one who can is asked to come and dance for Bismarck boys who are now on their way to France. Splendid music will be furnished by O'Connor's orchestra through the courtesy of M. J. O'Connor, the manager, who has donated the services of the orchestra and hall. Mrs. J. P. Dunn, Mrs. Peter

Visiting Relatives Here.
Mr. and Mrs. J. Lee Smith of Hazelton, are spending the week end in the city as the guests of the latter's brother and sister, W. S. Casselman of Eighth street, and Mrs. R. H. Thistlethwaite of Avenue B.

Lieutenant To Leave.
Lieutenant Addison Falconer, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Falconer, of Avenue E, who has been spending his furlough here after receiving his commission at Fort Monroe, has been ordered to report at Fort Crookard, Galveston, Texas, and will leave Tuesday for that place. Lieutenant Falconer will be connected with the coast defense artillery.

Young People Meet.
The young people of the Methodist Baptist, Evangelical and Presbyterian churches met last evening in the latter church for a social session. A large representation of the young people of these churches attended and enjoyed a program of games. The entertainment committee served a Hooverized luncheon.

McCabe Church Notes.
The McCabe Methodist Sunday school is planning its Christmas program which will be presented Christmas eve. The program this year will vary somewhat from that of last year and promises to be very interesting. The contract for the building of an additional room for the Men's Bible class has been awarded and work will commence at an early date.

Gets Federal Appointment.
Miss Mary Kelly of Seventh street has just received word that she successfully passed the civil service examination and has been appointed to a position in the local United States land office. Miss Kelly has been connected with the office since last summer.

For New York Guest.
Mrs. L. K. Thompson was hostess Friday afternoon at a charmingly appointed bridge party at her home on Avenue D, in honor of her house guest, Mrs. J. C. Huyck, of New York city. Four tables were in play for the game and the honor was awarded to Mrs. W. A. McDonald. Mrs. Huyck was also presented with a guest honor. Mrs. Avery and Mrs. Adams of Chicago, house guests of Mrs. C. L. Young, were among the out of town guests. Mrs. Thompson was assisted by Mrs. A. M. Fisher and Mrs. J. L. Whitney.

For Miss Densford.
The Misses Eunice Olson and Lavina Register were joint hostesses Friday evening to co-members of the Ivanhoe Campfire group at the former's home on Thayer street. The meeting was planned in honor of Miss Katherine Densford, guardian of the camp, in celebration of her birthday anniversary. This part of the program which followed the ceremonial meeting, was a complete surprise to Reid, Miss Lelia Diesem, Mrs. J. I. Willson, Mrs. Nelson and other members of the auxiliary will act as chaperones.

No other organization in the city has done more for the boys than the Woman's Auxiliary to Company A. Nor do they confine their work to Company A only but to all the boys who were members of old Company I. Each boy from this section has been remembered. The auxiliary has done real personal work and anyone who can assist to swell the proceeds of the dancing party should feel it an honor to do so.

the honor guest, who has been guardian of the camp since its inception. The girls celebrated the event on the sixteenth anniversary of their guardian and the large birthday cake held 16 tapers and she was presented with 16 remembrances. Red and white were used in the appointments. Miss Hinkley and Miss Latson were visitors of the camp.

GIRL SINGER RIDES "BAD" HORSE, WINS FRIENDSHIP OF EVERY SAMMY

By C. C. LYON.

Daily Tribune's Special Correspondent with the American Expeditionary Forces in France.

With the American Troops in France, Dec. 6.—A pretty Oregon girl with a voice like a lark has the boys in the American training camps singing their heads off these days.

All the Sammies agreed that Esther Cobina Johnson had good looks, personality and a great voice, but they didn't take her into full fellowship and vote her "our little sister" until the day she rode and tamed a fractious horse that had thrown nearly every officer in a certain battalion.

"Where is this wild horse every body is talking about," she asked at the close of a concert in a Y. M. C. A. hut.

"I've never seen a horse I couldn't ride. I was born and brought up on an Oregon ranch, 90 miles from the railroad, and I used to tame bad horses for exercise."

An entire regiment watched the horse and the girl. He was as gentle as a kitten after she had ridden him for half an hour.

"You boys didn't think a girl could teach you anything about horses, did you?" she said as she dismounted. Hundreds of Sammies crowded

SUBSTITUTES FOR WHEAT FOR HUMAN FOOD

By P. G. HOLDEN.

WE MUST learn to use substitutes for wheat. It is hard to change our methods of doing things, but the war will compel us to save, and the lesson will be a valuable one. Rye, barley, buckwheat, oatmeal, rice, corn and potato starch may all be used for this purpose, by substituting them for various proportions of wheat flour.

A splendid wholesome bread may be made by using one-third cornmeal and two-thirds wheat flour. One recipe is as follows:

One and one-half cups milk or water; 1/4 cake compressed yeast; 1 1/2 teaspoons salt; 1 teaspoon sugar; 1 teaspoon fat; 1 cup cornmeal; 2 cups wheat flour. Soften the yeast in 1/4 cup of water or milk; boil remaining liquid, the cornmeal, salt, sugar and fat, for 20 minutes; cool and add the yeast; allow to rise until it doubles its bulk; make into a loaf; again allow to rise; bake.

The ways in which barley, rye, oatmeal, rice and potato starch can be used in making bread are given in a bulletin issued by the U. S. Food Administration, entitled, "Ten Lessons on Food Conservation," a copy of which may be obtained by addressing the Food Administration at Washington, D. C.

STOP WASTING FATS

NO OTHER nation on earth wastes as much fat as we do. We waste them in our homes, in our restaurants, in our hotels, in our laundries. We waste them in the kitchen, on the table, in the bathroom, in the washroom.

We eat more butter on our bread than we need; we throw away grease, fats from our meat and small pieces of soap.

Our country needs fats. We need them for food; we need them in the manufacture of many things necessary to win the war.

We may be willing to be personally extravagant, but we have no right to destroy that which our country needs.

If each of us saved every day one-third of an ounce of fat—one pat of butter, a small particle of soap, or a few teaspoonfuls of grease—the total saving in a year would amount to 395,000 tons.

That would mean a great deal in the present emergency.

We must save our fats. We must not waste any.

LYE HOMINY WILL SAVE WHEAT

THE making of lye hominy is a method of utilizing corn for food, and saving wheat needed by our allies in the world war.

Use one pound of concentrated lye to 25 pounds of corn. Cover the corn with boiling water to a depth of four inches; dissolve the lye in one gallon of boiling water; stir the lye slowly into the corn; continue to stir until the hull loosens; pour off the lye water; add fresh water until the corn floats; rub the hull from the corn until clean, using a Bell churn or washing with the hands; boil 45 minutes. One bushel of corn will make three bushels of hominy.

The U. S. Department of Agriculture has reprinted a large edition of Farmers' Bulletin No. 563, "Corn Meal as a Food and Ways of Using It." Every housewife should send for a copy, which can be secured free.

NOTICE TO MASONS.

MAKES OWN ENAMELED WARE

United States New Producing Kitchen Utensils Formerly Imported From Germany and Austria.

New York.—The United States for the first time in its history is now producing all of the enameled utensils used in American households and in addition is able to supply large quantities to Europe and South and Central American countries. According to figures recently compiled housewives of the United States are at present buying enamel utensils at about the rate of $30,000,000 yearly. In former years a considerable portion of these goods was supplied by manufacturers of Sweden, Germany and Austria. Since the beginning of the war there has been a steady decline in these importations, and at the present time they are practically nil. Japan for a time sent in shipments of the ware, but as the quality of the Japanese goods was unsatisfactory, the supply from that source has largely ended.

Tigers Abound in India.
Tigers abound in India to this day. In some parts of that land the natives, especially the Hindus, regard the tiger with such superstitious awe that they will not kill one. Some think it is tempted by a spirit which makes it immortal.

500 MAY COME FOR HEARING ON GRAIN GRADING

Probable that Conference Will Be Held in Municipal Auditorium Monday.

Carper J. Prall, chief of the bureau of markets and grading, Washington, D. C., will be here in person for the North Dakota railway commission's hearing on the federal grain grades Monday, according to advice received in the city today.

"We anticipate that from 500 to 750 farmers and grainmen will attend the hearing on the new federal grades to be held here next Monday," said Secretary J. H. Calderhead of the North Dakota railway commission today.

"Prospect for a large attendance are so favorable that we probably will ask the use of the municipal auditorium, as the only room in Bismarck capable of accommodating everyone comfortably. We have not yet been advised as to the men whom the department of agriculture will send for this hearing. Dr. E. F. Ladd, as chief inspector of grades, weights and measures, Deputy Inspector J. A. McGovern and Chairman Andahl and Commissioner Bleck will be here.

License Denied.

The first license denied an elevator buyer under North Dakota's new grain grading act is one which Herbert Roberts, buyer for R. A. Rasmussen at Shields, was refused last week. Mr. Roberts was charged by Chief Deputy Inspector McGovern with incompetency, and by the latter denied a license on this count, had a hearing before the commission a few days ago, and the rail board determined his case at Carrington.

Charges Not Sufficient.

At the Carrington meeting the rail board also decided that the charges of misgrading by Mr. McGovern against G. H. Sawyer, buyer for the Victoria Elevator Co. at Beach; R. L. Olson, buyer for the same company at Berthold; R. A. Rasmussen, buyer for the R. A. Rasmussen Elevator Co. at Fulda; and J. Arnold, of Arnold Bros' elevator at Stanley, and N. G. Nelson, of Nelson Bros. at Stanley, were not sufficient to warrant the revoking of their licenses. Secretary Calderhead, however, was instructed to address a letter to these men, advising that while the commission does not deem their errors of sufficient gravity to warrant the cancellation of their licenses, they must be warned against similar errors in the future, and admonishing them that they are acting in the capacity of state officials and must "watch their step."

To St. Paul Protest.

Commissioners Johnson and Bleck proceeded from the Carrington session to St. Paul to attend a meeting of grain commissioners from surrounding states assembled to discuss the introduction at this session of a new grain grading act which will do away with the features of the present statute which are regarded as unfair or impossible. The technical matter of the present grade is being handled by the present grade, and the new statute will be introduced at the St. Paul conference which will grow a model measure which will more nearly meet the approval of everyone, and it is thought that the present is an opportune time to procure its passage.

At Fargo Today.

All members of the commission are in Fargo today for the first hearing in this state on federal grades. Those Commissioners M. P. Johnson, head of the Equity in North Dakota, goes to Wausau, Wis., to attend the annual meeting of the national executive committee of this organization.

Minor Matters.

At the Carrington meeting the Grackle Elevator Co. of Harvey was directed to reimburse the claim of H. H. Phillips of Harvey for payment for wheat stored with them, say on a May 1, 1917.

He placed his wheat in storage at a special rate in the fall of 1916, and when he claimed it last May the company advised it had been sold.

Fargo taxidriers who agreed to a monopoly given one of them an allowance if sole permission to use cars up to the station platform were advised the United States supreme court recently had upheld such an agreement, and that they had no case.

A Garrison photographer who lived in his quarters and was accused that his telephone used for business, be listed as a residence phone last out.

TED LEWIS---POOREST OF CHAMPIONS

PUBLIC OPINION SHOULD UNMAKE WELTERWEIGHT TITLE HOLDER.

BY PAUL PURMAN

Ted Lewis, poorest of champions, has gone a step further toward making himself more unpopular than ever, if unpopularity in his case can be unchained.

Popularity of a boxing champ is contingent upon a number of conditions—his willingness to fight challengers, his ability to defend his title in championship form and his fair dealing by spectators being the most important.

Lewis has failed in all of these.

Since he won his rather clouded title as a referee's decision in a two-round bout at Dayton, Ohio, Lewis has failed to meet his most insistent challengers, he has buried himself on the coast where only four round bouts are permitted and recently capped the climax by running out of a match at San Diego.

Lewis owns his title by tolerance of public opinion rather than by having won it fairly and removing it could be accomplished by the public refusing to recognize his claims.

Let's see what claims Lewis has to the title.

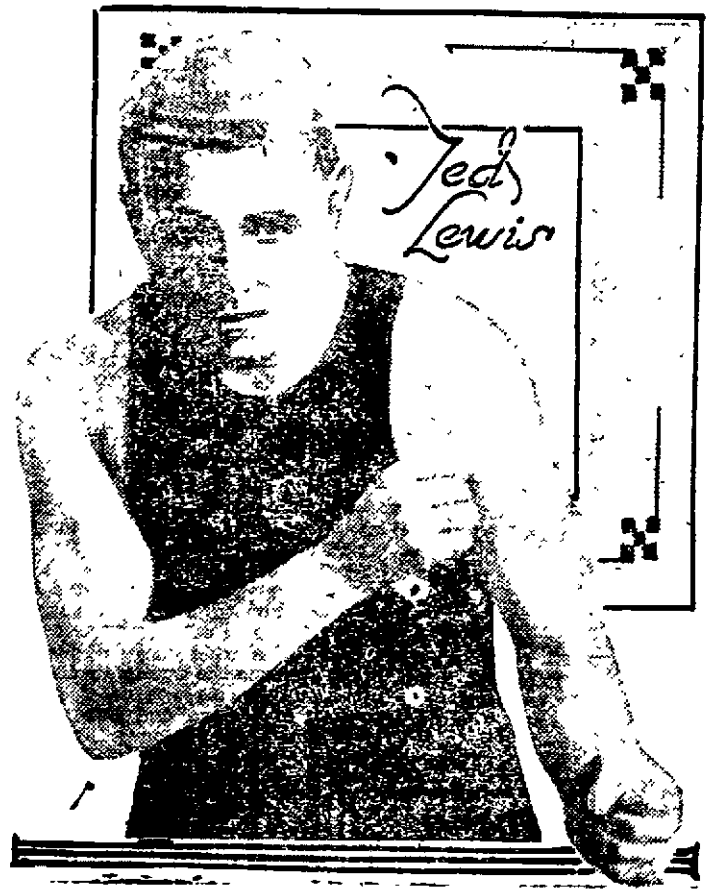

The last welterweight champion of note was Joe Wolcott, who lost the title to Henry Melody in 1906. Divie Kid had claimed the title in 1904 by virtue of a foul verdict in his favor, but his claims were not generally recognized.

In 1907 Mike (Twin) Sullivan defeated Honey Melody and held the title until 1910 when he went into the middleweight division and it was claimed by Jimmy Clabby, who defeated it until he went into the middle weight division in 1911, whenupon the title was claimed by Ray Brown, who posted a forfeit to fight for the championship in 1913.

From that time on the whole welterweight division was in a jumble. Brown lost to Matt Wells and Holbrook in Australia. Wells, Spike Kelly, Kid Graves, Mike Glover and a number of others then claimed the title, but none was ever recognized as champion.

Then Jack Britton, who had outgrown the lightweight class, claimed the title and defended it a number of times in 1917, meeting Lewis five or six times.

It's a question whether Britton was ever champion. There was no elimination and there was a number of good welterweights contesting his claims right along. Regardless of this, however, there was no concerted opposition to Britton's claims because of his popularity. Then Lewis beat Britton and now merits the title, poorest of champions.

of Troy, N. Y., with which he had been connected for the past two years as trainer-in-chief. His contract with F. J. Nolan, expiring a few days ago, was not renewed. The inference drawn by horsemen at the local track is that owing to continued ill-health, Mr. Nolan is contemplating an early retirement from racing.

Mr. Hughes is one of the oldest and most widely known trainers in America. For more than thirty years he has handled some of the best performers on the American turf. He trained the great Hervis when that horse was at the height of his career, and also saddled Lieut. Gibson, when that colt won the Kentucky Derby nearly eighteen years ago.

Fort Snelling, Minn., Dec. 8.—Many former well known athletes of colleges and universities of the North west obtained commissions at the second reserve officers' training camp. Three former University of Minnesota football stars commissioned first lieutenants are Robert Gray of the 1917 team, E. W. Kleffman, 1914 and Walter Rademacher, 1907-8-9.

Paul Bliss, Hamline college athlete, champion mile and half mile runner in Minnesota in 1908 and the first minor college runner in the state to make the half in less than two minutes, was awarded a captaincy.

Other athletes who were successful include James W. Hall, Des Moines, runner-up in the Trans-Mississippi golf tournament last year; first Lieutenant; Ezra A. Eldridge, St. Thomas football, first Lieutenant; C. G. Diddriksen, Minnesota swimmer, first Lieutenant; O. P. Triplett, Iowa football, first Lieutenant, and Grover Jacobson, Iowa football, first Lieutenant.

Sport Gossip

LaFayette, Ind., Dec. 8.—Basketball and wrestling are beginning to take their place in the interest of Purdue students. The material, according to the coaches, gives promise of winning championships in both branches of sport.

Only two men of last year's wrestling squad—Mullendore, 135 and George, 125—are back in school, but only one man of last year's basketball quintet—"Bud" Williamson, star forward, who was drowned in the Washington river last summer—is missing. From Cleine and Hart, of last year's team, and Tison, Crosby and Campbell, of last year's Freshman squad, Coach Valoney hopes to pick a winning combination.

Coach Paulson of the grapplers hopes to recruit his squad from the football men. Among the grapplers men expected to participate in wrestling are Jordan and Bartlett in the heavyweight class, Wyckoff, 175 pounds.

Lincoln, Neb., Dec. 8.—Reports that the University of Nebraska football team will play post-season games are officially denied. Coach E. S. Stewart expressed regret that the Missouri Valley champions would not be able to play army teams. The coach said, however, that he could not ask the players of the team to engage in any more games, as they are not in physical condition to continue the sport.

The cornhuskers have gone through the hardest schedule ever arranged for a Nebraska team and one of the best played by any team in the country this season. With a maximum of about twenty men this year, and with an unequalled hospital list, the cornhuskers have had to play their first-line men in every hard contest of the season, with the result that the men have had the hardest kind of drill. The squad was the smallest in history at the university, due to the war call.

FARMER MINERS MAY STORE FOUR MONTH'S SUPPLY

U. S. Federal Fuel Administrator Baker Makes Exception in Favor of Direct Consumers

Farmers who own a coal mine or obtain lignite in wagons direct from a mine are permitted to accumulate four months' supply of lignite in fuel order No. 3, issued today by Federal Fuel Administrator Baker. The order follows:

It is hereby Ordered, That effective at twelve o'clock, midnight, Thursday, December 6th, 1917, no person, firm or association of persons, or corporation shall sell or contract to sell or deliver to any other person, firm or association of persons or corporation any anthracite for household purposes in any quantity in excess of one thousand pounds.

It is Further Ordered, That no person, firm or association of persons, or corporation, except producers or retailers thereof shall thereafter accumulate or have on hand coal, coke or briquettes of any kind, whether anthracite, bituminous, sub-bituminous or lignite, for any purpose, in any quantity in excess of the usual, reasonable requirements of such person, firm or association of persons, or corporation, for a period of two months; provided, that a consumer may accumulate or have on hand lignite in any quantity not in excess of the usual, reasonable requirements of such consumer for a period of four months, where such lignite is obtained by that consumer direct from the mine in wagons or by other means of transportation than carriage by a common carrier.

Paragraph One and Two of the order of November 21, 1917, as amended by the order of November 27, 1917, are amended to conform to the foregoing. In other respects such orders remain unchanged.

Dated at Bismarck this 6th day of December, 1917.

LOCAL BOARD'S ORDER CONTROLS DESERTERS

Military Authorities Must Court Martial Slackers Reported From Counties.

A somewhat disgruntled federal agent is one of the attaches of the United States district court in session here. This gentleman, while investigating some violations of the liquor laws on the Standing Rock reservation ran onto a slacker, whom he personally delivered as a deserter to the military at Fort Snelling. The military authorities declined to accept the alleged deserter because of some technical conflict in understanding as to the exchange of authority between the department of justice and the war department. The same trouble was experienced by U. S. Marshal Doyle, the technical standing as a deserter of a slacker whom he delivered to Snelling now having been established.

Adjutant General Fraser, having word of these circumstances, wired the war department the middle of the week for advice. The department of justice and the military authorities now have been advised that a certificate from the local exemption board citing a registrant as a slacker is sufficient to commit him to court martial at the nearest military post as a deserter.

OPERATORS SCARCE

Shortage of 150 Now Exists on Soo Line, Says Chief.

In opposing the employment of a night operator at Anamoose, the Soo line this week advised the North Dakota rail board that there now exists a shortage of 150 operators on its system, and that the safe operation of the road will be imperiled by the withdrawal of any operator from the Soo line supplied to meet the demands of Anamoose. The rail board, it is said that under the circumstances Anamoose is getting as good service as could be expected.

BROKE DYNAMITE OVER CHAIR, PROVING SAFETY

State House Staff Declines to Wait for Engineer's Harmless Demonstration.

There was a real sensation at the capitol Friday when the state house electrician in nosing around State Engineer Bliss' office found a large box marked dynamite. He reported to Custodian Laist who at once took the matter up with the board of control, suggesting that the state engineer should find a safer place in which to store his powder. The board of control and the custodian and the chief electrician proceeded in a body to Mr. Bliss' office.

The state engineer confessed that he had a box in his office. It consisted of samples submitted for his inspection by manufacturers of explosive selling powder in North Dakota. Under a law which recently became effective the handling of dynamite and other explosives is carefully regulated by the government and Mr. Bliss is in charge of deputies named in every county to supervise this work.

"But it's entirely harmless," said Mr. Bliss, and he picked up a large cylinder marked "dynamite" and brought it down with a bang over the back of a chair. The audience which had been there when his arm began its upward motion was already in the corridor when the blow fell. After this exhibition of speed they slowly filed back to gather up the remains of Mr. Bliss. The state engineer was his usual calm, collected self. "You see," he said, "there's nothing inside but rounds of wood. The companies just send me these as samples to show how they pack and label their dynamite in order that it may be approved before they are permitted to ship the real stuff into the state."

Telephone Company Appeals Decision for Brakeman.

A "heads-you-wins-tails-I-lose" type of lawsuit found its way to supreme court Friday when an appeal was taken from the Burleigh county district court in the case of Meyers versus the Stewartsdale Farmers' Telephone Co., in which the plaintiff obtained a verdict for $300 in the lower court. Meyers, a Soo line brakeman, claimed that he was injured by being swept from the top of a box car at Magnus by the wires of the telephone company, which he alleges were not suspended at proper height. In all probability the costs in the case will equal the amount of the judgment before the litigation is ended.

MRS. DUKE APPEARS IN HUGE WAR SPECTACULAR

MRS. ANGIER B. DUKE.
Mrs. Angier B. Duke, formerly Miss Cordelia Biddle of Philadelphia, is one of the New York society women who is helping to make "Hero Land" a success. "Hero Land" is a spectacle being held in Grand Central palace, New York, for war relief. Mrs. Duke appears as a "Gaiety Girl."

Cannot Be Pioneer.
The world is full of them. There is no more "West" in the old sense of the term. No empty, unbroken land, covered by brush, with the riches of the gold and silver. Our sons may become business men, captains of industry, successful artists or inventors; but they cannot be pioneers. There isn't room. Exchange.

Daily Thought.
The strongest man in the world is the man who stands next alone.

flexible rules which a government or day improve.

The materials classified today will move in the following order:

Railroad fuel, livestock, perishable goods, and feeds; military supplies; other government supplies on special request; coal for cooking plants, and coal for current use. The movement of coal is proposed in a manner similar to a request for preferential shipment for specified requirement of producers several days ago by Fuel Administrator Canfield.

Raging Blizzard Holds Sway Over City While Starvation Threatens Unless Succor Comes Immediately

Suffering of those who Escaped Increased by Dire Need of Injured For Clothing and Supplies and Whose Recovery Requires the Best of Care—City Again in Darkness—Virtually every House in City More or Less Damaged

SINGLE TELEGRAPH WIRE CONNECTS THE DESTROYED CITY WITH OUTSIDE WORLD

Train Loads of Supplies are Hurried Forward on All Railways but Storm Delays Arrival and No Succor has Reached the City Yet—Magnitude of Disaster Seems to Increase Rather than Diminish as Its Extent Becomes Known.

Halifax, N. S., Dec. 7.—Stricken Halifax was swept tonight by a raging blizzard. So fierce was the storm that rescue workers were forced to suspend their operations in the devastated section. It is believed certain that all the injured buried under the ruins of shattered buildings have perished of cold and hunger.

CITY IN BLINDING STORM.

Battered by a biting wind and blinding snow, the plight of the survivors of yesterday's holocaust is little short of desperate. The windows and doors of virtually every house in the city were shattered by the explosion which wrecked the Richmond section and devastated a large part of the water front. Improvised barricades of boards give little protection against the elements and attempts to heat buildings into which the snow is steadily drifting are hopeless.

The city is again in darkness tonight except for the illumination afforded by a scanty supply of oil lamps, and unless these are carefully screened they are extinguished as soon as lighted by the gale which whistles through the crude shutters. Only a small percentage of the buildings have even this slight protection from the storm.

TERRIBLE SUFFERING OF SURVIVORS.

The sufferings of those who escaped injury have been increased by the fact that every available blanket, quilt and comfort has been requisitioned for the hundreds of injured in the temporary hospitals. Many of these are so gravely wounded their only hope lies in the best of care. Serious fears are felt that cold, shock and exposure will result in an outbreak of pneumonia.

A single telegraph wire, bending dangerously in the storm, offered Halifax only a precarious means of communication with the outside world, and it was feared momentarily that this line would snap. At best it gave only a halting connection with other points. Telegraph and telephone companies are making desperate efforts to provide a makeshift service but the work is beset with great difficulties.

SPECTRE OF FAMINE ABROAD.

While many generous offers of material relief have been received and train loads of supplies are on the way, the spectre of famine was abroad tonight, for if the storm continues it may seriously interfere with railroad traffic. There is enough food on hand for immediate needs, but it will last only a short time unless additional supplies are received.

As the day wore on to immensity of the disaster increased rather than diminished. Hundreds of bodies were taken to the morgues and rescue squads were constantly finding new victims buried under tons of debris until the blizzard forced them to cease work. There is every reason to believe that many more will be recovered.

No List of Dead.

No concerted effort has been made as yet to compile a list of the dead as have been found, and some families have been reunited. Among those reported dead, but who escaped, was Dr. Murdoch of Chisholm.

The body of Captain James, the port boarding officer, was recovered. Lieutenant Commander Jas. A. Murray was killed in the dock yard.

Soldiers and Sailors.
Soldiers from the garrison and sailors from ships in the harbor have done heroic and devoted work. Not only have they picketed the streets but they have toiled ceaselessly among the ruins.

There have been no reports of looting although windowless stores and houses have afforded ample opportunity for theft.

Nearly every merchant has given his stock to aid the injured or to feed and clothe needy survivors.

BATTLEFIELDS NO PARALLEL.
St. John's, N. B., Dec. 7.—The battle fields of Europe do not provide a parallel to the scenes witnessed at Halifax, in the opinion of Duncan Grey, who arrived here today. He was engaged in inspecting shells in a shed on the water front when the devastation began and barely escaped before the building collapsed.

This is his story:
"A few seconds after the roar of the explosion a gust of wind swept through the shed and then down came pillars, boards and beams. I rushed to the open and the sight that met my gaze was the worst that I hope ever to see."

"I have been in the trenches in France. I have gone over the top. Friends and comrades have been shot in my presence. I have seen scores of dead men lying upon the battle fields, but the sight that greeted me yesterday was a thousand times worse and far more pathetic.

Groaning in Last Agonies.
"I saw people lying around under timbers, stones and other debris some battered beyond recognition and others groaning in their last agonies."

"Rushing here and there, I struggled to assist them and as near as I can remember pulled 22 men and children from under the wreckage. As I was right in the affected district, I witnessed the full horror of the situation. Partly blinded by the smoke from burning dwellings, I groped out assisting some of the poor mothers and little ones who were running about screaming and searching vainly for lost ones, in many instances never to be seen by them again."

"I struggled on, coming across more and more bodies of dead men, women and children. Death was everywhere."

Flames Swept Pathway.
"Flames were sweeping a wide path way for themselves. Doomed structures were belching forth great volumes of smoke from doors and windows. The district was a living hell."

"Half strangled by the smoke, I kept pulling out bodies from under beams and fallen chimneys and under wreckage. Some of the bodies were without clothing. Many were so mutilated that it was difficult to realize that they were human. Some men were virtually dumfounded. Thinking only of their wives and children, they dashed about in the burning debris hazzarding their lives with the single thought of rescuing their own."

Children in Frenzy.
"I shall never forget how I felt in that hour. I saw little children running along, some with blood streaming from their faces. All were crying for their parents while fathers and mothers raced about in frenzy. I have never seen anything so pathetic even on the battle field."

Right Rev. E. A. Le Blanc, the Catholic bishop here, today received word that all the children of the Sacred Heart convent and at St. Mary's school, in Halifax, escaped.

SPECIAL RELIEF TRAINS.
New York, Dec. 7.—Several special trains provided by the New York Central railroad were speeding from here toward Halifax tonight with every facility for supplying aid to the stricken city. They carried 660 men, together with $15,000 worth of tools, $150,000 worth of lumber, 1,000 portable houses and 25 motor trucks. The party includes a special salvage corps under twenty expert engineers who will restore whatever houses can be saved and direct the construction of temporary shelter as rapidly as possible.

Dr. Thomas Darlington, former health commissioner of New York city, who also is on his way to Halifax, has been placed in charge of the temporary housing problems. He will cooperate with the health department of Halifax in maintaining sanitary conditions throughout the devastated district.

The Red Cross train, which left here late today in charge of Ellis Russell, is expected to arrive at Halifax early Sunday. It carried clothing, food and medical supplies valued at nearly a quarter of a million dollars.

STORY GROWS IN MAGNITUDE.
On Board Massachusetts Relief Train, via Amherst, N. S., Dec. 7.—The first official word from Halifax received today on the special train from Boston speaking to the relief of the stricken city only added to the story of death and suffering already indescribably tragic. Two thousand dead and other thousands injured was the estimate wired to A. C. Ratschky, in charge of the special, by General Manager Hayes of the Canadian government railway at Halifax.

To find and bury the dead, to care for the wounded and house the homeless, was described as a task calculated to tax the available resources of half a dozen nearby towns.

Goodsend to Halifax.
"Help from Boston is a godsend to Halifax," Hayes said in his message, which also asked that Ratschky go ahead with the plans for despatching a Red Cross outfit from Massachusetts.

Meanwhile at St. John, where a great quantity of hospital supplies was taken aboard, Mr. Ratschky learned that virtually every pane of glass in Halifax had been shattered by the blast from the harbor. It is easy to comprehend what that means with snow and sleet.

There was not a moment's delay in sending to Boston a request for the prompt shipment of glass, putty and tar sheets to make roofs for the homeless.

Through most of the day the relief train was racing in the teeth of a blizzard as the distance to Halifax was cut down, the storm increased and snow piled higher everywhere. At every station hundreds stood in the cold waiting eagerly for news from the stricken city.

Children Badly Maimed.
A pullman car with its sides covered with sheets of ice arrived at St. John today bearing half a hundred children, their heads bandaged and their little arms in slings. They were orphans who escaped when their asylum at Halifax was wrecked. A shower of stone and glass had maimed some of them for life.

With 128 miles to go, the plans of the relief party for immediate work at Halifax had been excellently arranged when the special arrived at St. John tonight. As a unit the party will be placed at the disposal of the military authorities for service anywhere.

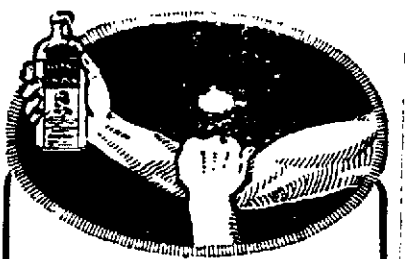

Clasps Headless Infant.
A woman came through to Moncton with the form of an infant apparently asleep clasped to her breast. The mother, temporarily insane, had made the long journey with only the body of her child. The ghastly discovery that the head was gone was made by citizens.

Major S. G. Giddings, in charge of the surgical unit, in addressing a meeting on the train today, said late reports showed that the extent of the disaster was even greater than was first indicated. Fifty per cent of the population of Halifax had been injured, he said.
